Things to do in San Diego & La Jolla

La Jolla is a postcard-perfect resort getaway with cliff-top vistas, a world-class golf course, and a diverse coastline of beaches, coves and sea-caves for endless recreation options. The quaint La Jolla Village is a blend of boutique hotel properties, full service hotel and resorts, fine dining, art galleries, high-end fashion boutiques, and epic views. A little further north, you'll find the Birch Aquarium at Scripps, Torrey Pines State Reserve, the 6,000-acre La Jolla Underwater Park and Ecological Preserve, and the Torrey Pines Golf Course, host to the 2008 US Open. Just a five-minute drive inland takes you to La Jolla's business triangle, where you can take advantage of an outdoor shopping center, restaurants, and movie theaters.

GOLF: Welcome to the nation's foremost municipal golf course. Situated atop cliffs towering above the Pacific Ocean in San Diego, California, golfers marvel at the views of the coastline, deep ravines, and classic championship golf holes. Torrey Pines is the beautiful site of one of the most memorable battles in golf's history--the 2008 U.S. Open. While taking in the views and gorgeous weather, discover the award winning golf shop where you can take home some of the magic. To learn more or to book a tee time, click here.

Attire

The attire for the meeting varies by event. For the education sessions and one-on-one sessions the attire is Business Casual. The opening Monday dinner and the President's dinner on Wednesday are more formal. Jackets are recommended for men and we suggest not wearing jeans. The proper attire for the Tuesday casual dinner is anywhere from resort casual to business casual. This event will be outside in the evening so we recommend packing suitable clothes including sweaters and light jackets in case it is a cool January evening in San Diego.
